

Morrison Hospital

Foundation training in Morrison hospital offers in-depth clinical experience in various specialities. We work closely with Swansea university medical school that offers bespoke opportunities to be involved in medical education and research. Swansea offers a lifestyle very few cities can offer and this makes it a brilliant choice to start your clinical careers and balancing it with your various interests.

The foundation team in Morrison over the past few years have introduced some novel ideas that include foundation forums-events led by foundation doctors with discussions ranging from career choices to managing finances.

Overall we aim to offer foundation trainees personal and professional support. You won't be disappointed with your choice to work as a foundation doctor at Morrison Hospital.

Warm regards
